Utah Air National Guard's Brig. Gen. Scott Harrison Retires

SALT LAKE CITY – Brigadier General Scott B. Harrison, deputy commander of Joint Forces Headquarters of the Utah National Guard, will formally retire from the Guard in a ceremony at the Utah Air National Guard Base Saturday, Jan. 9, at 2 p.m.

A 35-year veteran of the U.S. Air Force and Utah Air National Guard, Harrison, a resident of Sandy, has served in this position since 2006.

Beginning his military career in 1974, Harrison served on active duty with the U.S. Air Force for 12 years, where he served as a navigator and instructor navigator in both KC-135 'A' and 'D' models. He joined the Utah Air National Guard in 1987, serving as an instructor and evaluator navigator on the KC-135 'E' model.

He served an overseas three-year tour in England as a command-post controller and senior controller. Harrison's other overseas service includes Operation Enduring Freedom, Operation Iraqi Freedom, Operation Desert Shield/Storm, Provide Comfort, Deny Flight and Allied Force. He is a Master Navigator with over 5,000 flight hours.

Harrison's recent service also includes providing security and ancillary support for the Salt Lake 2002 Olympic Winter Games. He provided extensive support to Task Force Utah's National Guard operations in the aftermath of Hurricanes Katrina and Rita. He developed, orchestrated and implemented the reception plan and reception operations for nearly 600 evacuees from Louisiana.
